TRAINING SESSION

COURSE: Privacy and confidentiality
DURATION: 1 session of 120 minutes
TUTORS: Francis Shennan

OUTLINE:

From Max Mosley and his “five hookers” orgy to Megan Markle now the Duchess of Sussex, privacy and confidentiality have replaced defamation as the biggest pitfall for journalists. While celebrities provide the juiciest stories, it could just as easily be a local school or councillor that threatens to cause you problems.

The right to a private life and to protect confidential information is broader than most journalists realise. Learn about your rights and duties whether you’re covering sexual affairs, medical details or school plays from law lecturer and multi award-winning journalist Francis Shennan.
